

Retraction

Retraction of the following articles

Busari JO. Current insights and potential benefits for effective teaching and learning in respiratory medicine. Breathe 2012; 9: 14–24. DOI: 10.1183/20734735.023812.

Busari JO. Clinical reasoning: reflecting on the decision-making process in respiratory medicine. Breathe 2013; 9: 413–417. DOI: 10.1183/20734735.007313.

Busari JO. Exploring new frontiers: the role of simulation as an educational strategy. Breathe 2013; 9: 497–501. DOI: 10.1183/20734735.011713.

Busari JO. Electronic portfolios in respiratory medicine: finding the right fit for clinical practice and training. Breathe 2014; 10: 67–74. DOI: 10.1183/20734735.015213.

The Chief Editor, publisher and author wish to retract the articles mentioned above (published in the September 2012, September 2013, December 2013 and March 2014 issues of Breathe).

These articles have been found to contain portions of text that have been copied verbatim from other previously published sources, both with and without attribution to the original sources.

Breathe is a journal member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE) and, in retracting these articles, has acted in accordance with the guidelines of COPE.

The author is in agreement with the outcome of this process, and apologises to the readers of Breathe.